

New Crop Protection Product:
New WatchDog® A-Series Data Loggers

Plainfield, IL – Spectrum Technologies, Inc., the manufacturer of the popular WatchDog Weather Station and Data Logger lines, introduces the new WatchDog A-Series Data Loggers. The A-Series Data Loggers will replace the 100 Series Data Logger line.

The new A-Series Data Loggers offer many enhancements to the older 100 Series models:

- Greater battery life – 12 month vs. 8 months
- Increased data storage - 83 days vs. 73 days (typical data interval of 30 minutes)
- Blinking LED Light assures that the logger is recording
- New LCD displays current sensor readings

Spectrum Technologies, Inc. manufactures and supplies affordable weather and field measurement technologies that help growers make better decisions on crop inputs.
