FMC Professional Solutions, a business unit of FMC Corporation (NYSE: FMC), announces it has received registration from the State of Massachusetts for the sale and use of Dismiss turf herbicide.

"Dismiss is setting a new standard in the sedge control market, providing lawn and golf professionals with speed of control that no other sedge product offers," says Rick Ekins, product manager for turf and ornamentals.

Dismiss starts working immediately after application, providing visible results in just a couple of days. And what's more, Dismiss gets absorbed by nutsedge tubers, preventing new sedge growth and giving turf professionals the long residual control they need to keep their lawn care customers happy and to keep golf courses in pristine playing condition.

"Customers don't like to wait for weed control," said Ekins. "With Dismiss, turf professionals can give their customers what they want -- fast sedge control that lasts."

Research shows just one application of Dismiss may provide season-long control of yellow nutsedge, saving the time and money incurred through multiple applications.

The expanding FMC turf portfolio also includes products such as new Echelon herbicide, Quicksilver herbicide and Segway fungicide.
